JACKSON NOT ELIGIBLE TO PAROLE

Robert Jackson alias Robert Butterfield, 31, who Tuesday night entered a plea of guilty to a charge of murdering Mrs. Lucille Howman, 38, of Richmond, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie. Owing to a prior prison sentence served in San Quentin Jackson will serve his term in Folsom prison.

The sentence seals forever the future of Jackson for his life sentence for the first degree murder even were it not for a previous conviction on a manslaughter charge, is sufficient to bar him forever from asking a parole from the hands of the prison board.

After Jackson had entered his plea of guilty last Tuesday with District Attorney A. B. Tinnin recommended life imprisonment, Judge McKenzie took the case under advisement, pending a personal investigation of the facts.

In court yesterday Jackson was arraigned on the murder charge. He pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for immediate sentence. Officers concerned in the investigation were of the opinion that if Jackson stood trial a jury would have recommended life imprisonment, because of factors involved in the case.

Jackson told of his relations with his foster sister, Mrs. Howman, over a period of years. He admitted striking her with a hammer when she attempted to end their relations, but declared he did not remember using the razor on her. He said that he had given Mrs. Howman every cent of his earnings above his living expenses.

The murder is said to have taken place near the Shrimp camp along the Winehaven road. Mrs. Howman's body was found beside Jackson's car by Traffic Officer Eddie Baker who had gone to the scene to investigate the car, reported parked there several days.

Jackson, according to his confession to Richmond police, attempted to commit suicide by slashing his wrists with the same razor blade he is alleged to have slashed Mrs. Howman's throat.

ENTIRE U. S. FEELS MILD ONSLAUGHT OF DISEASE

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—(U.P.)—The epidemic of mild influenza which appeared first in California several weeks ago, now has spread across the entire United States to gain a foothold in the east, health reports indicated tonight.

A United Press survey indicated, however, a definite diminishing in intensity and prevalence of the disease. Health authorities agreed the epidemic was under control and was waning noticeably, as it spread across the Appalachian mountains to the Atlantic seaboard.

Closing of Mount Holyoke college in Massachusetts and two educational institutions near Philadelphia offered the first indication today that the wave of severe colds and influenza had attained the proportions of a nation wide epidemic.

In Chicago, the University of Chicago was the only major school closed. Grade schools still were open, although every precautionary measure was being taken. Five deaths and 257 new cases were reported to Health Commissioner Arnold Kegel.

Pneumonia has caused 19 deaths, 99 new cases have been reported, Kegel said.

Indiana, which suffered probably as heavily as any state of the middle west, reported the epidemic was under control. Reports from Indiana and Purdue universities said those institutions were not affected.

Further west, health authorities said, the epidemic virtually had disappeared, as far as new cases were concerned. Denver reported a decline from influenza and pneumonia but Dr. B. B. Jaffe said the situation was improved.

Kansas City and Missouri authorities said fewer new cases were being reported and that many of them were only bad colds.

Dr. Caveness said bronchitis had been more prevalent in Kansas City than influenza. Universities of Missouri and Kansas were closed.

TO VISIT REDDING

Miss Norah Ashfield, assistant city superintendent of schools, will enjoy the Christmas holidays with her parents in Redding.

Specialists In Hard Battle To Aid King George

LONDON, Dec. 15—(U.P.)—Additional specialists worked over King George tonight to save him from death.

The king, wasted and emaciated after 25 days of painful and severe illness, held on valiantly but he was exhausted. It was feared his overtaxed heart would give out.

The medical staff of eight specialists who have been attending the king was augmented today by Dr. Frank Howitt, a Harley street specialist in ray therapy, and by Dr. Robert Stanton Wood, expert in electrolysis and radiology. It was the first time they had been called into the case.

The doctors announced that it had been decided to use ray therapy in treating the king. There was unprecedented activity among the physicians today and almost constant coming and going.

Philadelphia Riots Over Banana Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 15—(U.P.)—A demonstration against the banana strike in Colombia and American intervention in South American affairs at the United Fruit company docks today resulted in the arrest of 43 men and women who were said by authorities to be communists.

The demonstrators were active for a considerable time before they were placed under arrest. They carried numerous banners. Riot squads were called to quell the outburst and the 43 persons were arrested. Among them were Frank Moser, Bernard Herman and William Lawrence, who were charged with being the leaders. They were held under $500 bail for trial.

Abraham Bachman, Max Stepien, Joseph Kriazinsky and Morris Mearow of Philadelphia, and Ann Roggoff of New York were said by authorities to be aliens and were held for immigration authorities. All of the others were taken before Magistrate Glemmstock and fined $15 or sentenced to 30 days in jail. They all chose the jail sentence.

Seventy-five Richmond persons attended the immunizing clinic held in the Richmond Health clinic yesterday morning, according to Dr. C. R. Blake, city health commissioner, who has been conducting the clinic. Dr. Blake was assisted in the work by W. W. Francis.

Richmond continues to remain free from contagious diseases according to Dr. Blake. The immunizing clinics which have been conducted free of cost have had much to do with maintaining this health record, Dr. Blake stated. These clinics have been well patronized by the Richmond public.

Owing to the illness of Dr. Blake the clinics were discontinued for two weeks, being resumed yesterday. Hereafter they will continue to be conducted on Saturday mornings in the Health Center.

Standard Sanitary In New Merger Plans

Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company and the American Radiator company are negotiating for a merger, according to word received from New York yesterday.

The Sanitary company has approximately $5,000,000 invested in plants in Richmond's industrial district in addition to its eastern plants. Consolidation of the two companies would result in a $500,000,000 combine, according to press market values. The Standard Radiator company is one of the largest manufacturers of plumbing fixtures in the United States and maintains factories in the following locations: Louisville, Ky.; Pittsburgh and New Brighton, Pa.; Camden, N. J.; and San Francisco, Calif. There are also ware-houses in nine of the largest cities of the country.

Argentine In Gay Welcome To Hoover

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 15—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover prepares to turn northward on his goodwill tour of the Latin-American countries tremendously pleased and cheered by the wholehearted welcome he received from the largest of the South American nations, Argentina.

His timid and somewhat shy smile broke into a genial grin as he received the ovations today and yesterday from the Argentine republic. The heartiness and enthusiasm with which he was greeted had melted away any reserve the president-elect of the United States may have felt. The Argentine visit of the Hoover party was one that impressed itself strongly on the minds of all.

The final day, today, before the northbound journey was a happy, homey experience. Formal entertainments were brief and the day was largely spent about the great metropolis.

BOLIVIA IN WAR MOVE

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 15—(U.P.)—Bolivia, under international pressure to arbitrate has demanded adequate apologies from Paraguay before she will submit to peaceful settlement of the boundary dispute between the two countries.

In a note to the League of Nations council at Lugano, the government said Bolivia could not enter negotiations for a peaceful settlement until Paraguay had offered apologies.

The note was signed by President Hernandez Siles and Foreign Minister Tomas Manuel Elio. It was addressed to Aristide Briand, president of the council.

"As long as Paraguay has not given the apologies that may be given it would not be possible for my government to preserve its dignity before public opinion if it entered into peaceful negotiations," the note set forth in part.

George Sheldon's Father Succumbs

Lawrence C. Sheldon, father of George W. Sheldon of 725 Fifteenth street, Richmond, died in his home in Walla Walla, Washington, Thursday night, according to word received in Richmond yesterday by Mrs. Sheldon. The elder Sheldon had been ill for several weeks. George Sheldon left here at the time his father was stricken and came at his bedside when the end came.

ICE TRUCK GIVES ROAD YULE COLOR

Deputy Sheriff Frank Wilson of Richmond has seen boxes, vegetables and other articles lying on the state highway and paid little or no attention to them. But yesterday morning while driving to Martinez he found two cakes of ice each two feet wide and three feet long on the highway near Pinole.

He concluded that the climate must have changed.

Wilson halted his car and made an investigation. Reclining in a ditch was an ice truck, the driver of which began a long dissertation on the weather.

According to his account of the accident, he "just skidded" turned around, spilled out cargo and landed in the ditch.

TUB TAKEN BY BURGLAR

Sanitary thieves are Richmond's latest addition, according to police reports, and when the local authorities capture them they expect to find in their possession in addition to stolen articles, copies of hygiene and physical culture magazines.

For these thieves appear to have a special penchant for bath tubs. Konstantine Kovalyash, of 223 Bissell avenue, reported to police yesterday that thieves had entered a vacant house owned by him at 651 Pennsylvania avenue and stripped the house of all plumbing fixtures including a heavy bathtub.

GUARDS HOLD NATAL FETE

Celebrating the first anniversary of the organization, a program of entertainment and initiation were held by Richmond council No. 1, American Guards and auxiliary in Brotherhood hall.

A class of 42 candidates was presented for initiation by the two organizations.

Following the business session, a program consisting of the following numbers was presented: Scotch songs by Ben Banner; Mandolin and guitar duet by Bruce and Long; Saxophone solo by Carl Pennington, accompanied by Loren Boehmer; readings by Harmon Jatta; jokes by Miss Frank; harp and harmonica numbers by Chas. Rothrock and Fred Husing; vocal solos by Mrs. Clarence Dunlap accompanied by Miss Bonnie Slesin.

ONEMAN CARS IN OAKLAND TO CONTINUE

While city officials, the Key System Transit company and the state railroad commission battle in the courts, police officials will not interfere with the operation of one-man cars in Oakland, it was learned yesterday.

City Attorney Pres. Higgins stated that the city was mainly interested in bringing the test case into court. J. P. Potter, superintendent and vice-president, and a motorman were arrested Thursday for violating a city ordinance against operation of one-man cars.

Cars on Twenty-third avenue and on Nineteenth avenue and the cemetery line operated unmolested yesterday.

The Key System can assume the initiative by taking the case into court or in the event that it does not wholesale arrests can be made when cars are taken from the barn or the case may be taken immediately before the supreme court for a rehearing of the matter before the railroad commission.

Crockett To Hold Annual Yule Party

CROCKETT, Dec. 15.—Crockett's annual Christmas party will be held next Saturday, the date having been set by the committee. The California Hawaiian Sugar corporation, the Community Center and the Crockett schools will take part in the celebration.

Students will present a play, in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and again in the evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the John Sweet high school. Toys will be distributed to all children under 12 years of age at the afternoon performance.

ADVERTISING AS A SCIENCE

Like all things, advertising has had an evolution. A century ago the leading merchants resorted to what is now the classified ad and the modern display ad was unknown. The store which a century ago purchased newspaper advertising in quantities of a half dozen lines weekly now contracts for one and two pages daily and the lady advertising for a roomer or seeking a lost cat consumes more space in the newspaper of today than the most thriving merchant of yesterday. As in quantity so has newspaper advertising had an evolution of quality. Within the shopping memory of the present generation the advertisement, both newspaper and magazine, has risen from a relation of articles and prices to attractive displays artistically phrased, graphically illustrated and in the case of magazines often beautifully lithographed. The modern advertisement is not a narration of goods and prices; it is a storehouse of information about buying, styles, thrift and economy. The public once complained of spending a penny for a newspaper and getting 50 percent, more or less, of its paper in advertising. Now magazines are purchased by many for their advertisements alone, and as for the newspaper, the advertisements form an important part of the day's reading.

The following paragraphs, selected from an advertisement of a Los Angeles furniture merchant, provide a specimen of the artistry which can be found in modern advertising. The advertiser is not unmindful of nor ungrateful for prevailing public interest in the advertisement, truthfully and attractively such as this:

"Home weaves the fabric of our lives. It is the loom for the tapestry of our days. That the fabric may be rich in color, gracious in texture, distinguished in design, the warp and weft must need be skilfully employed.

"If we would weave our existence from end to end, margin to margin, into a tapestry of happiness and high accomplishment we must employ within our homes the things which make for successful living."

CHRISTMAS TRADE

Christmas has its spiritual side, which deserves and receives annually dot only in pulpit and press the world over, but also in the hearts and minds of millions of believers in the mission of the Child who was born amid such depressing surroundings more than 1900 years ago in Bethlehem of Judea.

It has its material side too, for around the celebration of the great Christian festival there has grown up a custom of sending greetings and gifts which gives an extraordinary impetus to trade and to the circulation of money. Manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, transportation agencies, telegraph companies, the postoffice department—all benefit by these outward manifestations of the Christmas spirit which thus discharges a most useful function in the body politic. The cheapest Christmas car or the most ordinary toy gives employment to various persons all the way from the factory to the recipient.

According to statistics which have been somewhat hastily compiled and may in consequence need later revision, the festival approaching will be responsible for something like a $55,000,000,000 outlay on the part of the United States. Postal receipts are higher than ever before, arising from the greatest movement of letter and parcel post on record. Bank clearings have been phenomenal, and the federal reserve board reports reflect the quickest turnover of merchandise stocks in the history of the country.

These are all signs of national well being which there is no gainsaying. That the nation is pressing steadily forward to an era of unexampled prosperity is clearly revealed by the magnitude of the volume of the Christmas trade.

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane,
I have very blond hair and want to keep it attractive as long as I can. Everyone tells me some new fad for keeping blond hair from fading, but I am afraid to use most of them. What do you advise?—MAX.

Keep away from your faddy friends and just use common sense in caring for your hair. Don't worry wrinkles around your eyes and forehead thinking of ways to save off that bogey of "fading." Just take care to keep your scalp and hair clean and healthy and forget the rest of it. Use only the purest and mildest soap (in liquid form, of course) and soft water for shampooing. If the water is hard, use just a little borax in the rinsing water to soften it. This will also help to keep the hair light but don't use too much or it may make your hair brittle. Massage the scalp for a few minutes each day and never go to bed without brushing your hair thoroughly.

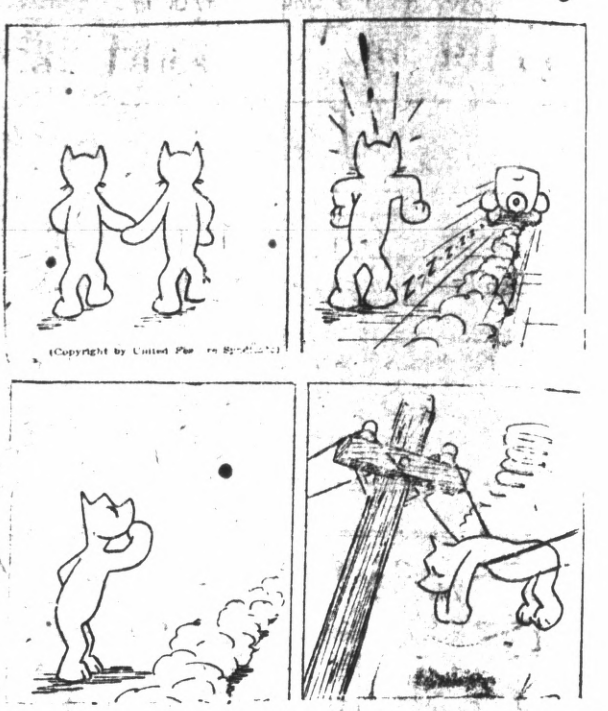

Dear Miss Lane

My fingernails are short, on the finger I mean, not the white tip, and square and stand out in the original but there seems no reason why a more substantial foundation would not be effective. It would be clever to make it detachable, sleeves and all and then you could have a change of jackets or have a sleeveless dress for the unexpected invitation which always comes sooner or later and so often finds us unprepared.

SPARK PLUGS NEED MUCH CARE

Regardless of the make of car and spark plugs used, a year's operation weakens the spark which results in loss of power, greater gasoline consumption and crankshaft vibration, contends R. J. Keller, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company. A new set of spark plugs not only shoots the motor full of pep but gives added power on hills and saves money on gasoline and repair bills.

"Selection of the proper plug is extremely important," says Keller. "In order to get the maximum power and efficiency from the motor, it is absolutely essential that the proper type plug be used. If the plug is too long, pre-ignition results. If it is too short, the firing points do not extend far enough into the combustion chamber and the motor is bound to be sluggish and inefficient. The correct plug, that is shown on the manufacturer's chart that Western Auto salesmen consult, fits so that the bottom of the spark plug shell is just flush with the inside wall of the cylinder head and the spark gap extends beyond into the combustion chamber.

"Next in importance to replacing spark plugs each year, is the necessity of changing spark plug wires every 10,000 miles. According to factory tests, eight out of ten cars that have gone over 10,000 miles have leaky high tension wires. By replacing the cables before the winter season, the car is fortified against current leakage from cracked and broken ignition wire insulation.

"Among the new additions to our electrical department are sets of ignition cables for all popular makes of cars. These sets make it possible for the auto owner to replace the cables at the end of every 10,000 miles at a very low cost," said the Western Auto manager.

Horse-drawn traffic has become such a negligible quantity on Michigan roads that it is no longer considered in a traffic census, reports the California State Automobile association.

Slippery Season

WORN TIRES are responsible for more motor car side slips than any other cause during the wettish season, it is agreed by motor wise persons. Here a Western Auto Supply salesman is showing a fair car owner how non-skidish are the new Western Giant Balloon tires.

Used Car Laws Need Watching

Automobile owners should be exercising careful and selective behavior in placing their cars with a used car dealer for sale. It is, according to the legal department of the National Automobile club, the law of the State that the owner in such instances clothes the dealer with complete authority to sell the machine unencumbered by any particular instructions or limitations reserved to the owner in the original designation of authority.

It well behooves the owner to select a dealer whom he may implicitly trust as in such instances the dealer has the power to sell and convey a good title to the innocent buyer even though the certificate of ownership is not signed by the owner.

MOTORIZING OF ARMY TOLD BY GEN. CROSBY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(U.P.)—Motors and machines never will replace men on foot and horseback in the fighting of battles, according to Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, chief of Cavalry, whose annual report to Secretary of War Davis was made public today.

Crosby's report reveals tremendous strides of mechanization and motorization of cavalry units. All regular army cavalry units have been reorganized and with new organization and equipment, Crosby estimates that the new cavalry regiment has twice the fire power of the old regiment.

But as regards mechanization, Crosby reported, it is believed that the horse-soldier, like the foot-soldier, cannot be replaced by any machine as yet developed nor is it anticipated that any such machine will be developed. So long as there are machines to cross, rivers, to swim, woods to pass through or climb, cavalrymen and infantrymen will be necessary.

Tanks, tankettes, armored cars, armored airplanes, smoke projectors, gas and all modern means of warfare in use or still to be adopted cannot take the place of the man and the horse. They supplement the efforts of the man and the horse but they do not replace them, says Crosby.

Changes Necessary

"The 1927 divisional maneuvers," Crosby continued, demonstrated the necessity for certain changes in organization both of cavalry units as then organized and in certain of the auxiliary units. Among the points demonstrated were the following:

- "The value of aircraft cooperation.
- "The advisability of partial motorization of the division trains.
- "The desirability of complete motorization of the rear echelon of division headquarters.
- "The desirability of incorporating armored cars and light fast tanks in the cavalry division.
- "The necessity for having anti-aircraft weapons and anti-tank weapons within cavalry regiments.
- "The necessity for new pyrotechnic signals and for early completion of new cavalry radio pack sets.
- "The feasibility to transporting cavalry and other units complete with their horses, equipment and personnel by means of motor trucks in emergencies."

HOT SPRINGS TRIP HOLDS INTEREST

Motorists through southern and central Arizona could find a visit to the Castle Hot Springs, 67 miles northwest of Phoenix, a very interesting one, according to the National Automobile club. So far back into the past of Arizona that fact is lost in myth, Castle Hot Springs, unknown to the white man, was sacred ground to the Indians of the southwest.

The heartless Apache had from time immemorial constituted himself guardian of the springs and made his abode in the vicinity of the mysterious health-giving waters. From this point and covering a radius of 20 miles, the Apache maintained constant vigilance and waged a fierce and relentless warfare against incursions of the white man up to a date early in the last half of the nineteenth century.

The curative properties of these hot mineral springs were known to all the tribes of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and California and many of them had runways to the springs and their medicine men frequently had passports to the waters, although their tribes were hostile to the Apache. Among the most interesting pages of the early history of Arizona are those that tell of the subjugation of the Apache and the wrestling from his hold of Castle Hot Springs.

Late in the year 1867, Colonel Charles Craig, then commanding Fort Whipple, was advised that "Indian signs" had been encountered in what is now known as Del Paso park. News of this nature was of grave import in those days and immediately a cavalry expedition was ordered into the field. Two troops of 84 men each, were in the saddle with Colonel Craig in charge of one and Major Ross commanding the other. Moving to the point designated, the two companies made their way cautiously along ravines, carefully avoiding elevated points.

In a battle which ensued with the Apaches, 42 Indians were picked up, two soldiers killed and four slightly wounded. The following morning 200 men, soldiers and civilians, made their way toward some craggy peaks upon which three Indians had been seen. It was from this point that Castle Creek and the healing springs were given their name by the white man.

Soldiers who had nearly succumbed with fatigue drank of the waters and made such rapid recovery that it became the order of the hour to drink to the Colonel's "Castle Hot Springs" and whatever magic it was they contained. And by that title, Castle Hot Springs, the springs are known to this day.

The rodeo held annually at the springs or some nearby point is a feature that brings back memories of pioneer days. Cowboys from the vicinity compete in daring sports and daring riding feats. There are an indescribable number of these wild west celebrations and the event is eagerly anticipated each year. Tropical plants and flowers grow here in profusion. Orange, lemon and grapefruit trees bear bountifully here and there are numerous varieties of palm trees scattered about the grounds surrounding the springs.

Victory Road Bids Received

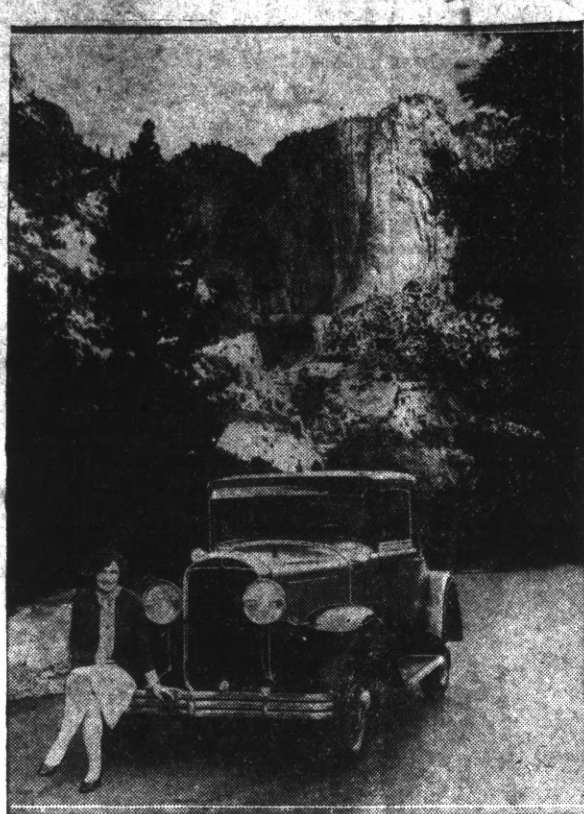

The State Highway department of Nevada today received bids for reconstruction of 32 1-2 miles of the Victory highway in that state. This is necessary preliminary work to the extensive oiling program planned by Nevada on this transcontinental route, according to the California State Automobile association.

AUTO CHANGES SUGGESTED BY CLUB

Experience gained in millions of emergency road service calls of clubs affiliated with the American Automobile association in other phases of their services to members, enables the nation-wide motorists' organization to make valuable suggestions as to changes in the design of automobiles. Such data gathered by the service department of 1,475 A. A. A. clubs, which blanket the nation, is eagerly sought by motor car manufacturers since it is based on experiences under all types of conditions and presents a picture of average circumstances. It is information that enables changes in design to be made that may eliminate difficulties of operation not previously demonstrated.

A suggestion of local interest was recently made by the highway bureau of the California State Automobile association affiliated organization in this state of the American Automobile association. The information covered the relative heights of signs and wigwags signals at railroad grade crossings and of visors on present-day motor cars.

The tendency lately in automobile construction has been to a low type of visor. Wigwag signals at railroad grade crossings have to be a certain height because of the possibility of their being damaged by high loads. The effect of the low visor, observations have shown, has been that in many instances operators of cars, when close to a signal, are unable to see the signal.

These facts were reported by the state association highways bureau to the American Automobile association which in turn took the matter up with the National Automobile chamber of commerce and with the society of automobile engineers. These latter organizations are now giving the subject.

Blame For Car Crashes Placed On Tired Driver

One of the phases of motoring that should be carefully guarded against does not receive the attention required, and that is the pernicious fatigue resulting from a long session at the steering wheel. Scientists declare that over-taxed strength impairs the action of the senses and faculties even to the extent of the dullness produced by intoxication.

The exertion of a long and unbroken journey reduces the strength to such a degree that a driver is devoid of the strength and alertness necessary to avoid accidents. This, according to information received by the National Automobile club is becoming prominent as the cause of accidents that very often prove disastrous.

It is a common experience to be unconsciously tired, and to become aware of the fact only when the exertion ceases, which is all the more reason why motorists should not remain at the wheel to the point of unconsciously exhausting their strength. It behooves all motorists to take cognizance of this fact, especially now that the rainy season is here and more effort is required to avoid dangerous skids.

New Road For North Planned

The Federal government, and Humboldt county have reached an agreement for the construction of a new bridge across the Trinity river on the Hoopa Indian reservation.

The estimated cost of the bridge is $70,000, of which the United States proposes to pay half and the county the other half. The agreement is contingent upon the county building the bridge and constructing a road from it to the reservation boundary to connect with the county road system.

Clean Radiator Drivers Told

To clean the radiator on your car, which should be done occasionally, the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association suggests adding a cup of ordinary washing soda to the water. Drive the car until the radiator boils, removing the fan belt if necessary, then drain and flush several times.

KRATZER TELLS ABOUT BUICK PROGRAMS

Marking the successful culmination of several months of effort and preparation on the part of its western branches and dealers General Motors corporation is now presenting its famed national "Family Party" radio broadcast regularly each week on the Pacific Coast, according to advices just received by C. C. Kratzer, Richmond Buick dealer, from the Flint, Mich., headquarters of the Buick Motor company.

"This big program, which is on the air every Monday night from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock Pacific time," Kratzer declared, "listeners in the Buick distributor territory of the Howard Automobile company may tune in these programs through stations KGO of Oakland, KFI of Los Angeles or KGW of Portland. The inaugural family party program on the Pacific Coast was presented Monday night, Nov. 19, and featured Giovanni Martinelli, premier tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company. Hundreds of radio fans in this section who listened to it have pronounced it the finest presentation they have ever heard over the air."

"Those of us in the west who have been working for a considerable time to have the General Motors program extended to the Pacific network of the National Broadcasting system, have been equipped primarily by the realization that this is one of the really fine things in radio. No expense is spared in consistently obtaining the greatest artists and performers in the country for the family party programs."

"It might interest radio listeners to know that before talent is finally selected for a General Motors 'Family Party' program, a critical test before a jury of about 12 persons must be passed. The jury passes on every part of the entertainment in the General Motors party. Several soloists, for example, are invited to sing in succession. They and the microphone are in one room—the jury in another, and the jury does not know who is singing. When the soloists are finished, the jury decides on those who are up to the standard set for the Family Parties—sometimes several, sometimes none. After the talent is decided upon, a working program is drawn up and the performers rehearsed for days, making changes, eliminating faults, until all of the parts synchronize into a harmonious whole."

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or less pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. Can't you see so easy? Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every drugist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

KEEP TO RIGHT MOTORISTS WARNED

In recent months there have been not a few accidents due to the fact that drivers have disregarded the strict injunction of the Motor Vehicle act which provides that drivers must "keep to the right side of the road," says a "safety first" bulletin recently issued by the National Automobile club.

There are three sections of the code that govern this subject. They are Sections Nos. 122, 123 and 124, and the bulletin points out, every driver in the state ought to read them carefully and abide by their provisions whenever and wherever possible.

The bulletin declares that accidents caused by a disregard of these sections result in head-on collisions, "side-swiping" which frequently bring about death and serious injury. Such accidents, it is declared, are almost entirely due to the carelessness of one or both of the drivers of the cars involved in the accident.

Disregard of the "keep to the right" injunction is especially hazardous in mountain driving where the roads are apt to be narrow and where there is a steep declivity on the outside of the roadway. Here it is especially necessary to the safety of all concerned that the law on the subject be rigidly observed.

"Hogging" a Crime
"Hogging" too much of a mountain road that is only just wide enough for two cars to pass is not only a serious infraction of the law but it is also a very serious disregard of one's own safety and also the safety of occupants of other cars, the bulletin emphasizes. In this case the car on the outside has nowhere to go but over the edge of the road to death and destruction.

A case in point is cited. Not so very long ago a driver was forced over the edge of the highway in the mountains in the northern part of the state. To save the occupants of the "hogging" car he took a chance of the very outer edge of the road holding the weight of his car, it crumpled and he with his car became a tangled mass of wreckage in the bottom of the canyon.

The situation is not so serious on the highways in the lowlands, but even here there are many cases of serious accidents due to cars being forced into the ditch off the highway and the car overturning as a result. In the cities there is always the chance of a car on collision turning his car onto the sidewalk and injuring pedestrians.

All in all, the bulletin concludes it is safest to always drive on the right side of the road.

Rain, Oily Road Skidding Cause

"Rain on a pavement soaked with oil from summer traffic is an ideal combination for skidding and resultant disaster," says a bulletin issued by the Public Safety department of the California State Automobile association.

Later in the winter the precipitation will have washed the lubricant from the road surface. Meanwhile wise motorists will drive slowly, be constantly on the alert and apply brakes gently under these conditions. They will also allow themselves more time in which to reach their destination on account of the lowered rate of speed.

Pedestrians can contribute their share toward safety during the period of inclement weather by exercising extra caution in crossing the streets and refraining from holding umbrellas directly in front of them and thus obscuring vision.

Illinois' 1929 automobile license plates consist of red numerals on a black background, according to the California State Automobile association.

BRITISH DRIVER HELD EXAMPLE TO AUTOISTS

In the last few years much has been said and written on the subject of courtesy on the part of the motoring public, and no doubt it has had its effect, in the opinion expressed by Arnold Hodgkinson, general manager of the National Automobile club. The club has placed itself on record through pointing out to its members that courtesy on the road pays in the long run.

"They manage these things better in Great Britain," says Hodgkinson, who is an ardent reader of the English motoring magazines. "It is seldom that you hear of an English motorist failing to stop to aid another in distress and this in spite of the fact that the motoring clubs render prompt and efficient roadside assistance."

To show how almost universal is this habit of motoring courtesy and mutual helpfulness, Hodgkinson cites a few instances gleaned from recent numbers of well-known British motoring magazines, a few copies of which reach California. These are in the form of extracts from letters to the editor.

For instance, real gratitude is expressed in this one:
"Thanks—Mr. Blank wishes to apologize to the driver of the motor-cycle on the St. Albans-Dunstable road whom he forced into the gutter on Sunday, July 22, the explanation being that the man in charge of traffic waved him on."

In the next letter a motorist was aided in time of real trouble:
"Ditched—La. Col. acknowledges the prompt and efficient service rendered by Summerland Street, Exeter, in extracting his car from the ditch on Farrants Hill, between Moretonhampstead and Exeter, into which it had been forced by the driver of a car going up the hill."

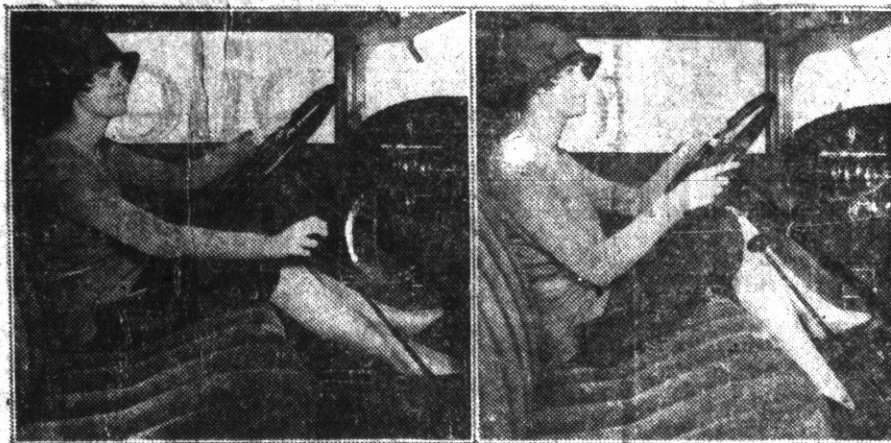

In this last communication can be gleaned the true helpfulness of the British motorist when another of the fraternity is in difficulties:
"Thanks Given to Aid—Gratitude—B-H 9827 is profoundly grateful to all, especially a gentleman driving a car registered 2P-9116, who extinguished the flames with his asbestos sheet, to two or three ladies who immediately alighted from another car, and a chauffeur of another who came to his rescue when his car caught fire near Beaconsfield on August 11th."

"It is this spirit that should animate all road motorists, especially those who chance to be in a position to aid another in isolated districts," continues Hodgkinson. "I have frequently observed real helpfulness on the part of the motorist residing in the California mountain districts. In quite the opposite is the case with the city dweller, who too often passes slowly by with a jeer and a 'wince' at the plight of a stranded motorist. This is truly a lack of manners."

Height Makes No Difference Now

One of the distinctive features in the new Oakland All-American Six appealing particularly to the woman driver is the adjustable front seat. The illustration shows, on the left, a girl of more than average height in a comfortable position behind the wheel with the seat "far away" for the tall driver. On the right, with the seat set for a person of short stature, the same girl is cramped behind the wheel. An adjustment within convenient reach of the driver moves the entire seat, back and all, to the correct position for any driver by a few turns of an easily operated thumb nut. Every new All-American model has this advanced device, a feature exclusive to Oakland in its price class.

Protection For Ignition Vital

With the rainy season at hand, motorists should take precautions to protect the distributor against becoming wet, when the car is out in the rain, especially if this unit is located at the front end of the motor. As a rule the radiator core becomes saturated and when an attempt is made to start the fan draws water onto the distributor shorting the circuit and preventing starting. The free Emergency road service of the California State Automobile association points out that the difficulty can be avoided in most cases by slipping a piece of old inner tube over the distributor cap, fastening the top snugly over the distributor wires.

Colorado River Ferry Planned

At the present time there is no ferry operating over the Colorado river on the Searleslight side, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club. Reports received from the Nevada State Bureau of Highways department indicate that a great distance will enjoy this ferry will be established again, but no definite date has been set.

Watch Lights Drivers Told

The headlights of your automobile are under constant inspection from the traffic law enforcement officers. It is your duty under the law, according to the legal department of the National Automobile club, to maintain sufficient light to see and to be seen by other motorists, yet you are not allowed to maintain bright or dazzling lights.

Under the law you are not entitled to maintain more than two "glows" on your car. It is well to carry your official inspection certificate with you. To carry a preponderance of weight in case you are questioned.

Cause Of Bad Brakes Many

Steering brakes of your car may be due to several causes, among which are a free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association lists improper adjustment, scored brake drums, lining worn down to rivets or particles of gravel imbedded in the brake lining.

The total attendance at the recent automobile show at Dallas, Texas, was more than 500,000, according to information received by the National Automobile club.

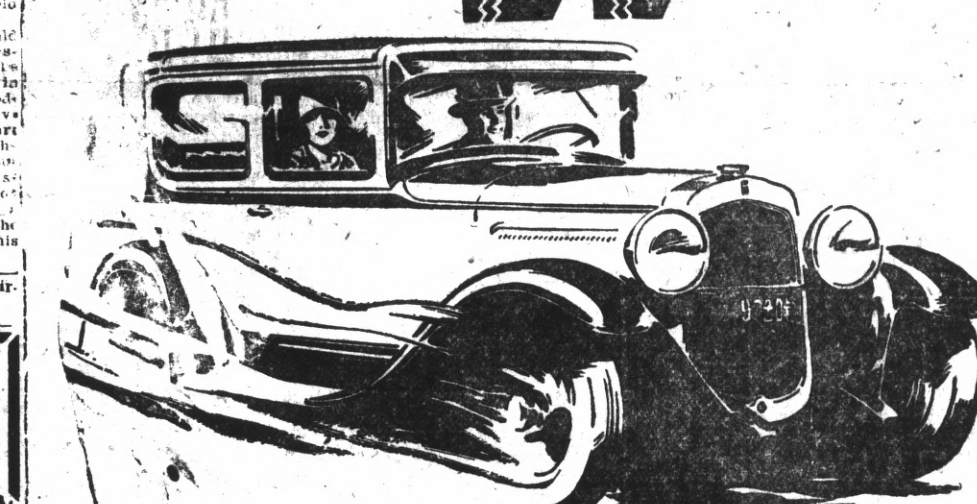

1000 Palms Line Highway

Thousand Palms canyon is reached by leaving pavement at a point a short distance west of Loom, where a road leads north, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club. This road is a narrow dirt road with rough stretches for a distance of five miles. The remaining distance, one and one-half miles, lies through a sandy wash. Distance from Manning, 36 miles.

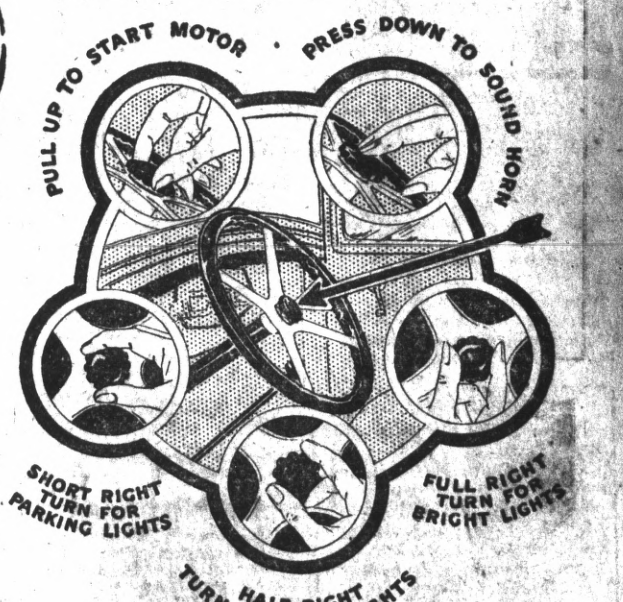

Motorists desiring to enjoy the beauty of the desert without traveling a great distance will enjoy this ferry will be established again, but no definite date has been set.

Greater Beauty-Larger Bodies in complete line of Fours and Sixes

Sweeping beyond all accepted ideas of light car beauty and performance, the new Superior Whippet sets advanced high standards of its own.

With longer bodies, higher radiator and hood, sweeping full crown fenders, new artistry of finish and perfection of detail, the Superior Whippet definitely establishes an ultra-modern style trend for Fours and light Sixes.

Bigger bodies— more comfort

Maximum riding and driving comfort in the new Superior Whippet is assured by more spacious interiors, with 3 inches added leg room; wider seats, heavily upholstered, with improved contours conforming with natural body curves, longer springs both front and rear, full balloon tires and snubbers.

The most notable advance in driving convenience since the self-starter

The Superior Whippet is the first car to offer the new "Finger-Tip Control"—a single button conveniently located in the center of the steering wheel, which controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn.

This ingenious device does away with all troublesome foot fumbling for the starting button, usually located in a somewhat inaccessible position, and obviates a change from the comfortable driving position to reach the light switch on the dash.

While everyone will welcome this new feature, it will appeal particularly to women drivers. Its simple operation is clearly explained by the illustrations above.

Something Mysterious

ELAINE KINGSTON, with the Nat Holt comedians who will present "The Mystery House" at the California theater today in conjunction with a picture program.

Horse Rivalry In Picture At Local Theatre

Marion Douglas has the leading role in the piece. Albert Rogell directed and Harry J. Brown supervised the production.

MISS TALMADGE IN DARING CHARACTER

Norma Talmadge plays the most daring role of her career in "The Woman Disputed," an adaptation of the sensational stage success of the same title, which is coming to the California theater tomorrow.

The United Artists picture was directed by Henry King, veteran megaphone chief.

Miss Talmadge's second vehicle for United Artists has its locale on the Austrian-Russian border before and during the World War.

The supporting cast of "The Woman Disputed" is headed by Gilbert Roland.

Other well known actors in the cast are Arnold Kent, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Michael Vavitch, Boris de Foss and Gladys Brooks.

The sets for "The Woman Disputed" by William Cameron Menzies, attracted unusual attention even on the United Artists lot in Hollywood, where lavish back-grounds and technical achievements are the rule.

Mystery Drama To Be Given By Holt Comedians

Who killed old man Willoughby? That is the baffling question to be solved by Nat Holt's comedians when they appear today at the California theater in the chilly, thrilling, spooky comedy drama, "The Mystery House."

In the role of "Sam Morgan," the frightened negro boy, Bobby Fitzsimmons will have another opportunity to exploit his versatility, and throughout the mysterious and comedy situations of the clever offering, will be ably assisted by Jimmie Edwards, Majel Gardner, Jack Kirkwood, Florence Spurrler, Ruby Rossena and Jack Wahlen.

Featured among the musical interpolations in preparation by Luckey Pollock, the chorus director, will be Majel Gardner singing "When You're in Love With Somebody Else," a comedy specialty by Bobby Fitzsimmons, the Knight Sisters singing "Taint So," and Ruby Rossena, the company's new ingenue offering "If You Can't Hold the Man You Love."

The photo-play offered will be "Power of the Press."

Long Tresses Will Be Worn By Billy Dove

Now that bobbed hair seems to be going out, for the time at least, how many may one wear one's partly grown hair becoming? Let a screen star solve the problem for you!

One of the answers and at the same time an indication of the fact that bobbed hair is really becoming passe, is given by Billie Dove in her latest starring vehicle for First National, "The Yellow Lily."

In "The Yellow Lily" coming to the Richmond theater Monday, you will see not only the correct Hungarian hair style but a charming and original way of wearing the growing lock.

PICTURE TELLS STRUGGLE OF REPORTER

That long awaited production of newspaper life that properly portrays the reporter as he is, will be brought to the screen in "The Power of the Press," a Columbia production, at the California theater today. A vivid drama of newspaper life so realistic that one can almost smell ink. Here is a film that not only is a joy to every newspaperman but also won worthy applause from the audience.

Jobyna Ralston and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. head the cast. Robert Edeson and Del Henderson as newspapermen are perfectly cast. Mildred Harris gives a well finished performance.

To Director Frank Capra goes praise for the success of this splendid drama.

Beware of Bachelors

Arline de Haas

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc. "BEWARE OF BACHELORS" with an All-Star Cast, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

Dr. Davis and his wife, Meg, have been married. Davis is jealous of Beranger de Brie, a perfume manufacturer, and Kay, a jealous of Miss Pfeffer, an artist. They have just made up when Davis receives a supposedly professional call and finds himself dejected to take Meg home from a party because she pretends illness. On opening her apartment door he thoughtfully pockets the key. Meg, becoming suspicious, follows him. They go to a cabaret and Davis finally reconciles. They start for home only to find Meg in the doctor's car, demanding her key. Meg threatens divorce.

The streets were dark and silent, save for an occasional truck rumbling on its way downtown. The road was clear before her. There were no traffic lights to hinder her. She raced past The Ritz and on towards home. She'd show Ed Davis that he couldn't make a fool of her. Having that woman waiting there in the car was going just one step too far. She'd see her lawyer the first thing in the morning.

She drew up her car in front of the apartment house where she and

Ed had established their home. It was a little depressing to think that this would be the last time she would ever stop in front of it. And their married life had been so short. But she wouldn't stand for any such treatment from any man, she told herself firmly. She jumped out of the car. The sound of a voice caught her ear. She turned to face Beranger.

"Why, Mr. de Brie!" she exclaimed. "How on earth did you ever get there?"

"I was hiding from the doctor," Beranger explained. "I must have come to sleep because the first thing I knew you were in the car and I couldn't get out again."

"I'm leaving my husband," May informed her admirer quickly. "Oh, my dear!" Beranger exclaimed. "I'm so happy. You never did belong to such an uncouth creature—you, so lovely—so charming—so—so—understanding—"

May smiled. "Well, I've got to get some overnight things and go quickly. If you want to wait I'll run you downtown as far as The Ritz. I'm going to stay there. But I've got to rush. Wait here for me. I'll be right down."

"All right," Beranger called after her departing figure and set himself in the car.

May hurried through the long, empty corridor and roused the sleepy-eyed elevator boy. Once on her own floor, she unlocked the apartment, unlocked the door and went into the bedroom. She snatched her overnight bag from a shelf in the closet and began packing her things. She rummaged through the dresser and found a pyjama suit and a dressing gown. She ran into the bathroom and seized her toilet articles, throwing them into the bag. She went back into the bedroom and looked about to see if anything had escaped her; that she might need.

Her eyes lighted on a picture of her husband propped up on the dressing table. She looked at it and then went over and picked it up. She started to put it in the bag. There wasn't any reason why she shouldn't have a picture of Ed, even though she was going to divorce him. But what did she want a picture of him for when she never wanted to see him again. She set the picture back in place. She turned again and looked at it. She picked it up again. Should she take it—shouldn't she? Suddenly she threw the photograph into the bag. She was wasting time and she didn't want to meet Ed here. She picked up the bag and hurried out into the hall, slamming the door behind her.

She snatched her overnight bag from a shelf in the closet and began packing her things. She rummaged through the dresser and found a pyjama suit and a dressing gown. She ran into the bathroom and seized her toilet articles, throwing them into the bag. She went back into the bedroom and looked about to see if anything had escaped her; that she might need.

Her eyes lighted on a picture of her husband propped up on the dressing table. She looked at it and then went over and picked it up. She started to put it in the bag. There wasn't any reason why she shouldn't have a picture of Ed, even though she was going to divorce him. But what did she want a picture of him for when she never wanted to see him again. She set the picture back in place. She turned again and looked at it. She picked it up again. Should she take it—shouldn't she? Suddenly she threw the photograph into the bag. She was wasting time and she didn't want to meet Ed here. She picked up the bag and hurried out into the hall, slamming the door behind her.

For years I suffered from headache and run down health. I tried in vain to get relief from various healers. I was so ill that I had to be carried into the Fong Wan office. After I had taken the Fong Wan herbs for about two months all my troubles had been overcome.

This was about four years ago, and I still remain well. I have enjoyed the very best of health ever since.

KING GEORGE OF ENGLAND SINKING

The night bulletin was issued after a 10-1/2 consultation among the two doctors who signed it.

The following bulletin was issued at 7:20 p. m. by the king's five doctors:

"His Majesty had a quiet day with some sleep. Though the pulse remains steady, and the fever is more moderate, exhaustion persists. It has been decided to use ray therapy as part of the treatment."

There was no disguising the anxiety over the king's condition. It was said on good authority that his appearance has changed greatly during his illness. Normally a small man, the king has sunk considerably, it was said, and has been greatly emaciated by his weakness and the slender diet of the last three weeks.

The fact that the king has been getting some sleep was reassuring to the royal household, although the United Press was informed at the palace that the king was disturbed last night and had little sleep.

The king apparently is not in a coma and can recognize his family, since it was reported that when the Prince of Wales saw him yesterday, the king asked about the lions the prince had shot on his African hunting trip.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York dined at the palace tonight.

The Duke and Duchess of York left the palace at 11 p. m. The Prince of Wales followed shortly afterwards.

Loan Company Will Build Offices Here

A Richmond office for the Contra Costa County Building and Loan association, which recently opened headquarters in Martinez, is being planned, it was revealed yesterday.

The company is negotiating for the corner store of the new building at Sixth street and Macdonald avenue erected by Dr. J. H. Robinson of Oakland.

W. J. Richards and H. E. Russell are handling negotiations for the Martinez firm which plans to open offices here immediately.

Teachers Group Names Officers

Miss Norma Buchanan of the Richmond Union high school faculty, has been elected president of the Richmond Teachers association and will be installed at the January meeting.

Miss Margaret Skinner of Roosevelt Junior high school, was chosen vice-president and Miss Blanche Kline of Stege kindergarten will be the new secretary. Charles P. McAfferty has been chosen treasurer.

Bergen To Build New Residence

Ralph H. Bergen, manager of the Certain-teed plant here, will erect a new $10,000 residence in the Mira Vista section according to a building permit issued in El Cerrito yesterday. Carl Overaa will be the contractor.

Capital invested in automobiles in manufacturing the United States exclusive of parts, accessories, tires and bodies, is $2,080,657,664, reports the California State Automobile association.

Sewer System To Be Placed In Kensington

Resolutions of intentions, ordering the installation in portions of El Cerrito and the Richmond annex of the proposed Kensington Park sewer system have been passed by the State Sanitary district board. The estimated cost of the new sewer system is $65,000 and will be one of the largest in the county. The system will take care of the disposal of the large acreage and residential sections of Kensington Park, Arlington Acres and Berkeley Park. Wherever possible the existing system will be tied in with the proposed system, but new and larger lines will be installed wherever it is deemed necessary. The plans were arranged by Ross Calfee, engineer for the board.

Efforts are being made to arrange for the joint construction of a sewer main in the Cerrito creek, by the city of Berkeley and the city of Albany, and the Stege Sanitary district.

If accomplished this system will be the channel of disposal for the Northridge district, the northern section of the city of Albany, and the southern end of the Stege Sanitary district. If present plans are agreed to, the city of Berkeley will bear 70 percent of the cost and Albany and the Stege district will bear the remaining 30 percent.

Rites For Pinole Man Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held in Oakland tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the chapel of Eagle and Welter for David Hersher, brother of Mrs. A. Greenfield of Pinole who passed away at his home in Berkeley recently.

At one time Hersher was engaged in the mercantile business in Pinole and later operated the Pinole theater. He was 70 years of age and a native of Ohio. He leaves another sister, Mrs. Flora Bateman of Cincinnati. The Pinole lodge of Masons will be in charge of the services.

Miami Will Open Airport

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15.—(U.P.)—An air-derby will be held here January 7 and 8 to dedicate Miami's municipal airport. It was announced by the city commission when they appropriated $12,500 for race prizes and other expenses.

It is planned to have an air race from New York to Miami and possibly one from Detroit to Miami, with an All-Florida race planned to Miami from Florida cities. Elaborate prizes will be awarded the winners.

Dog Goes To Jail With His Master

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 15.—(U.P.)—When Frank Zehr, 49, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated here his little fox terrier refused to leave his side. The animal fought valiantly to remain with his master when he was removed to police station and threatened to bite officers who tried to force him away. Finally police officers allowed the dog to go to a cell with its master.

Wanted.

SAN PABLO NINE BILLIARDS TO MEET

Tony Krasovich, former Johnson-Clother third baseman and Sacramento Coast League rookie will be on third base for the San Pablo baseball team when it meets the strong Oakland Billiard outfit at San Pablo this afternoon.

This will be the second league game in the second half of the season. The San Pablo team won their first game when Polard Roberts pitched a shut-out game. He may start against the Billiard team today.

Carl Kahn will be in reserve; Gualford will play the man in the iron mask; Greenhouse will hold down first base; Screevy will sit on second; Krasovich will meander on third; Bernavado will move at short; McCoy, Fluerido, O'Leary and Banducci will hold a garden party in the outer garden.

James A. McCann Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for James A. McCann, 60, 635 South Twelfth street, will be conducted from the St. Edmund's Episcopal church tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. Rev. T. J. O'Brien will officiate. The Harbor Lodge of Masons will be in charge of the services at Sunset Mausoleum. The body is now at the Wilson and Kratzer funeral parlors.

McCann was a native of Ireland and was a member of the Harbor Lodge of Masons of Richmond and the Knights of Pythias of Newberg, New York. He leaves a widow, a brother, William McCann, and two sisters, Miss Flora McCann and Mrs. Annie Short, all of Ireland.

Prices are under the direction of Wilson and Kratzer.

Really Stuck On This Miss

CONKEY WHITEHEAD, of Atlanta, Ga., has asked for the arrest of Frances Porter because "she made a pin cushion out of me." This scene shows the couple before they came to pin points.

Over 61 percent of the automobiles sold in 1927 were on the installment basis.

1ST CHRISTIANS BEAT QUINTET OF OAKLAND

The First Christian church team of the Richmond church league downed the English Lutheran quintet of Oakland, 54 to 1 in a fast game played on the Y. M. C. A. floor here last night.

Livermore, forward of the Christian team, proved the high point man of the night, piling up a score of 28 points. Brown, forward, tossed 16 of the points and Moore, center, secured the winning 12 points. H. Sprague, left guard, and Ferguson were guards.

Forwards for the English Lutherans were Robinson, E. Laws, E. Froliger, and Gelling and Ferguson was center. Heilert, H. and Faulkner were guards.

For prevention against gum infections, use Zonite, the new powerful antiseptic. Also guards against colds, coughs and more serious diseases of nose and throat.

SPECIAL PHILCO OFFER

Richmond Phone 349

Come in—phone—or send coupon below today for full details of the special offer we are now making on the Philco Electric radio. This is your opportunity to own the latest and best in radio on a most liberal offer. Just read below:

Free Home Trial

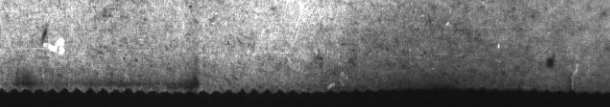

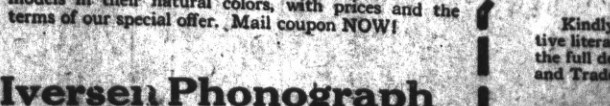

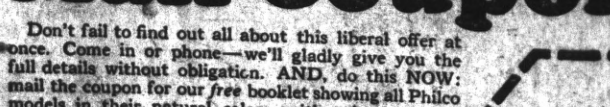

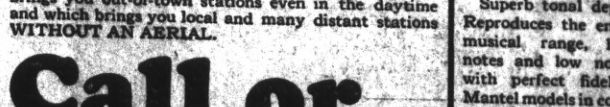

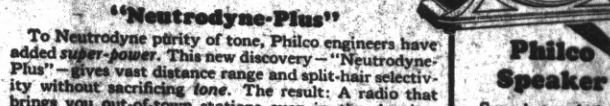

Only by hearing the Philco can you realize what "Neutrodyne-Plus" has added to radio performance in tone, selectivity and distance. That's why we offer you a free trial in your own home. Hear it! Let your friends hear it! Compare it with other sets. If not delighted, we'll take it back. Remember, the trial is FREE!

Easy Payments

If satisfied, only a small payment down, and the Philco yours. The balance in small monthly payments. You need not wait to pay cash! Enjoy the Philco while paying.

Trade In Your Old Radio

We'll make you a liberal trade allowance for your old, out-of-date radio. When you buy the Philco Electric Radio you don't have to take a dead loss on your old set. Come in and see how much it is worth in trade. No obligation.
